SLIVERS-OF-TIME SUPPORTS EMPLOYERS' NEEDS FOR TOP-UP WORKERS Slivers-of-Time is a government supported initiative, jointly funded by ODPM/DCLG and the private sector. It is an online marketplace where people with spare time can sell their spare hours to local employers. Millions of people in the UK cannot be available for regular work because of other commitments in their life (eg childcare, studying, medical issues, job-seeking, caring for dependant adult, existing part-time work, retired, freelance work/starting own business). Slivers-of-time enables these people to sell their spare hours working around their other commitments. Buyers are employers who need sporadic top-up workers (eg: caterers, retailers, local authorities, housing associations, healthcare providers, logistics companies, office employers).
